UNA VITA ALL'ASSALTO

SYNOPSIS

Born in 1990, Assalti Frontali released the first rap song ever sung in Italian, 'Batti il tuo tempo', which became the anthem of a generational movement that saw underground culture as a spirit of revolt to be brought to the streets. In 1992, the group released their first Italian rap album 'Terra di nessuno', which was followed by ten more albums. After more than 30 years, Luca Mascini - this is the name of militant A, leader of Assalti Frontali - is still the same and tells his story in this film as he had never done before. A human and artistic parable emerges that has its roots in the history of Italy, in the world of antagonistic autonomy, of student movements, faithful to its ideals, to its dreams, to the unstoppable desire to make music and change the world. Even today.

AROMAS DEL BUDA

A man of simple appearance enters a luxurious restaurant. He stands up with determination and begins to sing. Suddenly, something surreal happens: the faces of those present begin to deform, reflecting the superficiality and falseness of their world. In an abrupt cut, the scene changes. Now the protagonist is with his friends on their gravity bikes, descending at full speed down a road, the wind hitting their faces, adrenaline running through their veins. The trip ends in a crystal-clear puddle, where everyone dives in without worries. There, in the purity of the water and the shared joy, the message is clear: happiness is priceless and the simple things are what really matter.

I DIDN'T KNOW (NO SABÍA)

SYNOPSIS

A woman cries in her house, surrounded by religious paintings. Her tears fall because of the absence of her relative, who disappeared during Operation Orion. In the midst of the celebration, a luminous cube rises like a portal of memory, reflecting the faces and souls of the missing. There, Penyair and Mañas transform pain into poetry and resistance, paying homage to those who were torn from their homes, but never from memory.
